

Once you have downloaded the files from the court's web site, you must "unzip" the files containing the instructional videos. First, browse to the folder where you saved the downloaded files. Second, double-click on one of the .zip files, and your zip utility will open and guide you through the "unzipping" of the file. This procedure must be done to each of the .zip files downloaded from the court. Once each file is successfully "unzipped" the file name will have .avi as the extension, replacing the .zip. Once all the files have been "unzipped" you may delete the .zip files from your computer.

To view these instructional videos, browse to the folder you saved the files. Click on the CamPlay.exe file. This will open the Camtasia Studios viewer. Click on File, Open and browse to the folder you saved the .avi files. Click on the .avi lesson you wish to view and set back and learn.

If you are having problems viewing these movies, please follow the instructions in the Setup and Configuration section of the CamPlay.txt file. You can also visit the TechSmith website (<http://www.techsmith.com/download/tscdefault.asp>) to download and install the TSCC Codec which will enable the latest version of Windows Media player to view these movies.

If you have any questions, you may call our ECF help desk at 1-866-232-1266.